

Nicole Trick Steinbach

*Global Career Coach
Change Management Consultant*

Build the skill of bravery to create the career of your biggest dreams

Nicole Trick Steinbach is a global career coach and change management consultant. She is known for inspiring change through deep connections, brave insights, and radical responsibility. She's worked in over 25 countries and lived in Europe for over 13 years before the mountains of Colorado called her name.

Nicole's coaching includes building the skill of bravery so that her clients create the careers of their biggest dreams. Her clients have lived in over 30 countries and have accomplished goals as varied as accepting executive positions, doubling their income, breaking six figures before 30, relocating globally, and the power to step into dreams that were hidden for so many years.

Topics include:

- ✓ Building the skill of bravery
- ✓ Thriving as a women in tech
- ✓ Building a global career
- ✓ Flourishing across cultures
- ✓ Integrating life, work, family, & joy

“Former tech exec and career coach Nicole Trick Steinbach talks about women in tech, finding fierceness and grit. She also shares her own story from an impoverished childhood to the ambition that drove her to a big career in change management and onto her more recent step into entrepreneurship. A brave episode.”

Jennifer Crittenden, Dear Discreet Guide

“The embodiment of joy in a person is truly Nicole Trick Steinbach. Nicole brings her truly authentic, joyful, inquisitive and honest presence to episode 78 of the podcast. One of my favorite conversations of all time was with Nicole.”

Darian Parker, Dr D's Social Network Podcast